

Arterial Scrapbook No. 58

WASTE YARD DISAPPEARING - Clean-up operations in the Cherry-Washington area are causing the long-established Raphael waste yard to disappear. All other sites along the eastbound right-of-way were cleared during the summer, but release of the Raphael site was not obtained by Pelnik until this week. Original plans called for the easterly end of the arterial and return to Main St. at this point, but proposed revisions would send eastbound traffic on an oblique route through the former Blood Knitting building, now used by Myer Raphael & Son, for emergence near Schuyler. (Donlon)